Today we successfully installed some desktops at a secondary school in Waterloo.

The Athenee Royal de Waterloo asked us to help them modernize some of their language classrooms to help teachers better monitor the in-class dialogues. So we immediately went to work and found suitable computers for their budget. After this, we started to prepare the desktops with monitoring software, VoIP software, and McAfee antivirus. We installed a web filter on their network so the students' attention would be on the lesson, not on a video game or Netflix.
